

GEORGE JAMES WORKSHOP

Tuesday, July 18 through Friday, July 21, 2006

Sponsored by The Studio School, Inc., this class is at Second Presbyterian Church, 214 Mountain Avenue, Roanoke, VA. Call 344-5404 for information.

WORKSHOP HIGHLIGHTS:

We welcome George James, Professor Emeritus from the University of California, recognized with major awards in a number of international and national water media competitions. He is skilled as a teacher, innovative in his understanding and practice of painting and caring in his efforts to communicate his knowledge and help other artists improve their own painting. Since his first class in Roanoke five years ago, we have planned for a return visit of this sought after teacher.

Participants will follow George's lead and work on Yupo paper with watercolors in a manner which produces intense color and strong value contrasts, interesting textures and a "magic" lifting of any unwanted painted areas.

George will demonstrate several times during the class giving us the opportunity to see paint application, amount of water, brush work, and his technical skills to control this medium.

Models will be used in class to provide shapes and subject matter, although you may also bring photo resource material as well.

Designing the space of the page is a major part of George's class. He explains well and shows us how he works through a composition.
